Turning back the fingers of Time

Somewhere deep inside my heart
A million teardrops fall
And wash away my hopes and dreams
Nowhere left for me to turn
Nothing left to lose
My life's a land where sadness reigns supreme .

I should have seen it coming
Easy now to say
And I can't pretend
If I could start again
I wouldn't try a different way
But turning back the fingers of time is pure illusion
There's a lesson there for me.

Turning back the fingers of time is no solution
I should learn to let it be
Once I saw a perfect world
Shining like the sun
Now I might as well be dead
No-one calls my name
I've vanished like the day fades to night
But there's a season above and down below
There's a time for me to walk the earth
A time for me to go.

Coz turning back the fingers of time is pure illusion
There's a lesson there for me.
Turning back the fingers of time is no solution
I should learn to let it be
Turning back the fingers of time is pure illusion
There's a lesson there for me.
Turning back the fingers of time is no solution
I should learn to let it be.
